Redz Restaurant Lends A Helping Hand *Furloughed Government Workers Receive Discount While Shutdown Persists

Mount Laurel, NJ (January 22, 2019) Redz Restaurant (515 Fellowship Road) is extending a helping hand during a hard time, as the government shutdown continues into its fourth week, by assisting government employees directly impacted. Not only is Redz dedicated to serving American-inspired fare, but they are also dedicated to serving the American government employees that work hard to keep our country safe. Any furloughed workers with valid government-issued ID who come to Redz will receive 20% off their entire meal and children under the age of 12 eat for free. The offer will continue for the remainder of the shutdown.

Redz Restaurant, opened in 2014 by local businessman Mitchell Davis, is known for serving up traditional classics made with locally sourced ingredients. Executive Sous Chef Roelof de Groot has helped to develop a menu of American-inspired fare, with a focus on steak. Whether enjoying lunch or dinner, guests appreciate his passion for food and attention to detail.

“Many workers have now been without pay for at least a month,” said Mitchell Davis, Owner of Redz Restaurant. “Now that we are rolling into the fourth week of the shutdown, we recognize that there are far too many people in the area that are in need. We want to do our part by offering a discount – ensuring that furloughed workers can enjoy a nice warm meal without breaking the bank.”
